3 Questions With ... Philanthropist Antoinette Brown

Co-Founder Junior League of Howard County/Marketing Consultant

The Women's Giving Circle of Howard County, Maryland is proud to elevate the voices and giving of our donors and friends throughout Black Philanthropy Month

one

what moves you to give your time, talent and financial resources?

Being a part of a family that gives hundreds of hours each year to the community, I learned at an early age that serving the community is everyone's responsibility. My time, talent and financial resources all play a role in the transformation of my community. Giving back to the community makes me feel good about contributing to society and leading efforts to build a better community.

two

when did you start giving to issues that are important to you?

About two decades ago while volunteering with several nonprofits I gained an understanding of what the community needs were and the value of my contribution. That grew into the desire to sit on the Board of Directors for nonprofits to have a seat at the table to drive the direction of the Community Impact.

three

what advice do you have for those interested in giving back?

Every person has a talent to share. Make the time to create change. One hour a week can make a huge difference - building up a woman, mentoring a child or moving an organization's mission forward.

The Women's Giving Circle is proud to continue our support for National Black Philanthropy Month 2023!

The WGC is building a community of philanthropists to address the needs of women and girls in Howard County, Maryland.

"We are excited to continue our support of National Black Philanthropy Month" said Malynda Madzel, Chair of the WGC's "Our Giving, Our Stories" effort. "Informing, involving, inspiring and investing in Black philanthropic leadership and giving are among the goals of this annual celebration and we are committed to advancing this important work in philanthropy, both in our community and across the country."
