3 Questions With ... Philanthropist, Eboni Adams Monk

Vice President, Marketing, W.R. Grace /Advanced Refining Technologies

The Women's Giving Circle of Howard County, Maryland is proud to elevate the voices and giving of our donors and friends throughout Black Philanthropy Month

one

what moves you to give your time, talent and financial resources?

I am moved to give my time, talent, and financial resources to causes that transform people, have great impact, and touch my heart. I believe in the power of the human spirit and love supporting organizations that uplift people and help them to rise to their highest potential.

when did you start giving to issues that are important to you?

I've been rooting for civil rights for as long as I can remember because my parents taught me the importance of the movement and lifting each other up when I was very young. I channeled that energy in my college chapter of the National Society of Black Engineers, which champions STEM education and engineering professionals. Under my leadership as President of the chapter, I'm most proud of our mentoring program for school-aged students.

what advice do you have for those interested in giving back?

Find a cause or organization that you are passionate about and give what you can. What feels like a small contribution – money, time, advise - can impact in huge ways and inspire others deeply.

The Women's Giving Circle is proud to continue our support for National Black Philanthropy Month 2021!

The WGC is building a community of philanthropists and creating a permanent legacy to address the needs of women and girls in Howard County, Maryland.

"We are excited to continue our support of National Black Philanthropy Month" said Hina Naseem and Judy Smith, co-Chairs of WGC's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee. "Informing, involving, inspiring and investing in Black philanthropic leadership and giving are among the goals of this annual celebration and we are committed to advancing this important work in philanthropy, both in our community and across the country."
